

The Journal of Bioscience and Bioengineering (JBB) is copyrighted by the Society for Biotechnology, Japan.

Permission requests

- Reproduction and Reuse

- ◆ Authors have a right to reuse their materials published in JBB. They do not need to obtain explicit permission from the Society for Biotechnology, Japan, provided appropriate bibliographic citation is given to the original source of publication, along with the title, volume number, pages, published year and a DOI link to the published article on ScienceDirect. Reproduction may be permitted for non-commercial, personal and academic purposes, provided the original work is properly cited.

- ◆ Third party users should obtain permission to use materials that were originally published in JBB. Please send a permission request to the JBB Editorial Office at jbb@sbj.or.jp.

- Photocopying

Users may clear permissions to photocopy any work published in JBB through the Japan Academic Association for Copyright Clearance (JAACC):

Japan Academic Association for Copyright Clearance (JAACC)

6-41 Akasaka 9 chome, Minato-ku, Tokyo 107-0052, Japan

URL: <https://www.jaacc.org/en/>

In the USA, users may clear permissions to photocopy any work in this publication through the Copyright Clearance Center:

Copyright Clearance Center

URL: <https://www.copyright.com/>

Journal Author Archiving Policies

- When the final version of the peer reviewed, accepted article is assigned to the volumes/issues of the publication, the Article in Press version will be removed and the final version will appear in the associated published volumes/issues of the publication on ScienceDirect. Once the final version is available in the published volumes/issues of the publication, authors may self-archive Accepted Author Manuscript (AAM) on their own websites and also deposit this version of the article in non-commercial hosting platforms such as their institutional repository.

Accepted Author Manuscript ("AAM"):

Author's version of the manuscript of an article that has been accepted for publication and which may include any author-incorporated changes suggested through the processes of submission processing, peer review, and editor-author communications. AAMs should not include other publisher value added contributions such as copy-editing and formatting.

- Authors cannot use the publisher's version (the final article), which is posted on ScienceDirect, for the purpose of self-archiving or deposit.
- Authors may only post his/her version provided appropriate bibliographic citation is given to the original source of publication along with the title, volume number, pages, published year and a DOI link to the published article on ScienceDirect.

(Example)

"NOTICE: this is the author's version of a work that was accepted for publication in <Journal title>. Changes resulting from the publishing process, such as editing, corrections, structural formatting, and other quality control mechanisms may not be reflected in this document. Changes may have been made to this work since it was submitted for publication. A definitive version was subsequently published in PUBLICATION, [VOL#, ISSUE#, PAGES] DOI#"

For details of your author right, please refer to Elsevier's website:

<https://www.elsevier.com/about/company-information/policies/copyright#Author%20rights>